ANDEAN TO LIST ON TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

- Receipt of conditional listing approval paves way for Andean to dual list on TSX main board

The Board of Andean Resources Ltd (ASX:AND) is pleased to advise that the Company has received conditional approval from the Toronto Stock Exchange to dual list its securities on the main board of the TSX.

The TSX approval is subject to the final procedural and administrative matters being completed. The Company anticipates its securities will be formally admitted for trading on TSX in the first half of May.

Andean shares will trade under the TSX symbol "AND".

The Company has decided to list on the TSX as a result of strong North American investor interest in its 100% owned Cerro Negro project in Argentina. The TSX is the largest stock exchange in the world for trading of mineral resource companies, including several mineral resource company peers with projects in Argentina. Recently, the majority of Andean's recent A$9.8 M fundraising was made to North American based investors.

The Company will continue to be domiciled in Australia and to trade on ASX.

The Company's Chief Executive Officer, Mr Wayne Hubert, commented, "This is an important step in reducing the global barriers to investing in an exciting exploration story in the Americas. I believe this will result in both increased investor interest and liquidity for Andean over the long-term."
